Extraordinary Effects of the Great Hurricane

The Gulf Disaster

BEAUMONT, Texas, October 16—The train which went toward Sabine yesterday as far as the track allowed returned here at 8 p m Fifteen bodies were recovered on the high land called Brickridge, west of Sabine, and were buried Six bodies were recovered on the west shore of the lake, two colored and four white

NEW ORLEANS, October 16—It is now stated that over eighty five of the inhabitants of Johnson's Bayou lost their lives in the storm Forty of their bodies have been recovered and consigned to graves in the [illegible], while the decomposing corpses of of the remaining forty-five lie festering in the marshes Radford was very thickly settled, and when the storm began Tuesday everybody took to their homes and waited with bated breath for that which they foresaw The waters began rising, the wind swept through the lower stories of the buildings driving the affrighted people into attics and upon the roofs By 10 o'clock the ridge, which was 12 feet above sea level, was 10 feet under water House after house [illegible] was swept away, either burying the doomed people in the debris or hurling them into the hissing waters. The villages of Radford and Johnson's Bayou were destroyed as completely as if an invading army had done the work For twelve hours the storm raged Of 5,000 head of stock which once this bayou boasted 6,000 are drowned, while the remainder will die of thirst as all the water is salt. There is no way of [illegible] salt water, hence it suffices to say that the towns are destroyed and abandoned

GALVESTON, October 16—Late reports from Johnson's Bayou bring the terrible intelligence that 85 persons are now known to be lost in that place, and it is greatly feared the list will be swelled to a hundred or more, thus making the total of the victims of the hurricane fully 200. Reliable information from Johnson's Bayou arrives slow, all roads being impassable and only two boats are running to that section The destitution of the survivors, of whom there are over 1000 around Johnson's and Radford village, is described as something awful They lost everything and are without food, drink and clothes

GALVESTON, October 16 Further particulars of the great disaster at Sabine Pass and Johnson's bayou are constantly being received The situation has not been exaggerated in the least A correspondent who has returned from Sabine Pass telegraphs from Orange that turkey buzzards are soaring over Sabine for miles around on land and water, seeking the bodies of persons and animals The town is swept out of existence What was a prosperous village when last Tuesday dawned is now a centre of desolation There are 127 persons missing and supposed to be dead Only about twenty five bodies have thus far been recovered. Innumerable touching, heartrending incidents of the storm are related by the survivors. One house containing fourteen colored persons was seen to go down with a crash and every one of them was lost Incidents are related of husbands lashing wives and children to floating wreckage and then seeing them killed by heavy logs being driven against them The damage to property can only be estimated by the valuation of the town, for all is lost The Sabine and Texas railroad is washed out for a distance of ten miles Ties have floated off and rails are twisted like wires by the effect of the great hurricane. Millions of dead fish were cast up by the waves, and thousands of dead cattle strew the ground A young woman, in a perfectly nude state, was found roaming around on the prairie five miles from Sabine She was demented and could not tell her name.

When the government tug Penrose reached Sabine yesterday Calmerbus Martee was found roving around the delta looking for the bodies of his family He said "Myself, wife and three children were clinging to a floating roof which was gradually breaking to pieces One of the little ones went and then another. I was holding the youngest and soon my wife said, 'Good bye, husband, I am going.' I could not reach her A piece of roof supporting her broke off and she sank before my eyes I held on to the youngest child some time later The child addressing me said 'Papa, I'm tired, won't you walk with me' The piece of roof I was on was now crumbling to pieces. I told the little one to [illegible] She put both her little arms around [illegible] Then a wave washed us off and I saw her no more Great God, why didn't I go down too He was pressed to go on the boat Penrose, but refused, saying, "Here among these woods are the bodies of my wife and child [illegible], and here will I stop until I can find

[illegible] have suffered during the past few days

Raided by Burglars

DENVER October 16—A Gunnison special to the Republican says Burglars last night entered the hardware store of [illegible] & Co blew open the safe and took $40 in cash and seven thousand in negotiable paper Officers found most of the paper in an alley in the rear of the store No arrests

The Missing Steamer

BOSTON, October 16—During the morning the office of the International Steamship Co was besieged by many anxious inquirers who had relatives and friends on the overdue steamer New Brunswick about which rumors of probable disaster were circulated yesterday Nothing further has been heard of her

Colorado's Quarantine

DENVER October 16—Governor Eaton received a telegram asking whether cattle passing through Chicago from other points would be allowed to enter Colorado Governor Eaton telegraphed back that he had mailed them a copy of the rules and regulations of the sanitary board, all of which would be strictly adhered to

Indian Conference

LAKE MOHAWK, N Y, October 16—The [illegible] of yesterday morning's session of the Lake Mohawk conference was the Mission Indians of California. Mrs Hiles of Milwaukee, who has taken up the work interrupted by the death of Helen Hunt Jackson gave a thrilling narrative of the pitiful condition of affairs in southern California as witnessed by her She thought the case almost hopeless unless a first class and incorruptible attorney is obtained to conduct the fight to regain possession of lands from which these Indians have been driven Senator Dawes thought the passage of the bill in the house in reference to their case would right their wrongs without hiring an attorney Several persons expressed the opinion that it was useless to wait governmental action The question of hiring counsel was finally referred to a special committee The remainder of the session [illegible] was devoted to discussing various phases of the question of Indian citizenship and civilization and to a report of work done by auxiliary societies Judge Campbell of Philadelphia read telegraphic correspondence between Secretary Lamar and the principal of Lincoln institute, arranging for [illegible] of a large number of Apache children there This conference adopted a resolution calling on congress to pass a land in severalty bill, the Sioux reservation bill and a bill for extending the law over all Indians

Congregational Council

CHICAGO, October 16—At the national council of the Congregational church this morning Rev I Benner, president of the Salt Lake academy, of Salt Lake City, reported that the condition of churches in Utah was good, but there was a great dearth of ministers and missionaries Dr Benner asked that a committee of five able ministers be appointed by the council to investigate the state of the church in Utah and report the same at once Such investigation, he said, would do much good, as John Taylor was an imbecile, and large numbers of people were wanting an opportunity to recede from the Mormon church At Dr Benner's suggestion also, the council adopted the following resolution

Resolved, That this council recognize, with respect, the loyal and intelligent Gentile residents of Utah, and that it protest, in advance, against the admission of Utah as a state without consent of this loyal minority of the Gentile faith

Rev C L Bliss, in his report of the New West Educational mission, said the association had now four academies, with twenty teachers, the property being valued at $160,000, and thirty common schools with thirty-nine teachers, and 1 500 pupils, with property valued at $30,000.

Postoffice Statistics

WASHINGTON, October 16 The first assistant postmaster general, A. E. Stevenson, has submitted to the postmaster general his annual report upon the operations of his bureau for the fiscal year ended June 30 It shows the number of postoffices established during the year, 3483, number discontinued, 1,120 net increase, 2362, whole number of postoffices, 53,614, number filled by appointment of the president, 2244, number filled by appointment of the postmaster general, 51,370 The appointments made during the year are given as follows On resignation and commissions expired 9112 increase compared with the previous year 2035, on removals and suspensions 9566, increase compared with the previous year 5756, on deaths of postmasters 957 on establishment of new postoffices 3483, total 23737. General Stevenson renews his recommendation of last year that the government pay office rent for postoffices of the third class

The Storm in the Lake Region

DETROIT October 16—Reports are slowly coming in of damage by the storm In most cases the damage is to fences trees, roofs, etc The gale blew up the river and the water in Lake St Clair was raised to an unprecedented height, being seven feet six inches higher than ever before known Heavy losses are reported all along the shore of the lake, particularly the region between Fairhaven and New Baltimore the water extended a mile and a half upon the land and floated away much valuable timber and small houses A sloop yacht of Detroit was carried away by the water and finally lodged in an orchard 100 feet from shore Fields generally were inundated

Episcopal Convention

CHICAGO October 16—Debate on change of name of the Protestant Episcopal church was resumed this morning Dr Stringfellow supported Judge's resolution Dr. Davids of Pennsylvania thought a change inexpedient Dr Stoddard opposed the resolution, but [illegible] for gradual change M Connel followed in the same line. Judge Sheffey of Virginia made a strong speech against any change [illegible] A sitting debate was then taken as follows, clerical representatives of 49 dioceses and lay representatives of 44 dioceses voting Clericals—17 yeas 20 nays, 10 divided, laymen—11 yeas, 19 nays, 4 divided, the resolution being rejected by 20 to 31.

Blaine in Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, October 16—James G Blaine arrived here shortly before one o'clock and was quietly taken to the Continental hotel To night he will make an address in behalf of the republican state ticket and on Monday will start on a tour through the state, winding up Tuesday night at Pittsburg

Gale on the English Coast

LONDON, October 16—The gale and floods which began Thursday night along the south and west English and Irish coast continues, having extended far northward Many reports of bridges and buildings being swept away are constantly coming in In Ulster, Ireland, storm and flood seriously impede railway traffic Many small vessels have been wrecked The loss of life ashore so far caused by the storm has not been great The British bark Belfast has been wrecked off Skelling Island She was being towed by the tug Gamecock, when the hawser parted and the bark was thrown on a rocky shore and destroyed. All of her crew perished

The troopship Tyne, thirty hours overdue at Plymouth, has been sighted off there laboring terribly in the storm The greatest anxiety has been entertained concerning her for the past 24 hours. The British ship Teviotdale, which sailed from Cardiff, Wales, Thursday last was wrecked during the storm on the Carmarthan bar There were on board at the time twenty-eight persons. A life boat rescued nine The others, among whom were the captain and officers, left in a boat and but two succeeded in reaching shore alive. The other 17 perished The great hurricane which has just passed over England and Ireland was accompanied by the heaviest rains within memory. During last night there were many collisions and wrecks A number of channel fishing boats were stranded The beach at Brighton presents a spectacle of destruction The torpedo gunboat at Portsmouth dragged its anchor and drifted into the mud but was afterwards rescued by tugs The glass roof of the Ilfracombe hotel was broken and bath houses washed away. The storm was very furious on the Irish coast The streets in many towns were flooded Corn stacks were blown away and corn standing in fields destroyed The damage is immense There have been destructive floods in Wales.

The Knights' Convention

RICHMOND October 16—When the general assembly of Knights of Labor resumed its session this morning discussion of the report on Dewey's plan for the establishment of the Labor Journal as the organ of the order was resumed The discussion on the newspaper project was brought to a close by the adoption of a motion to lay the matter on the table That part of the report on revision of the constitution relating to duties of general officers was adopted Discussion of the clause relating to state assemblies was in progress when the hour for noon recess arrived and was resumed at the afternoon session

Powderly was not feeling well to-day and was absent from the convention, remaining in his room the greater part of the day In his absence General Secretary Litchman presided At the afternoon session consideration of the report on revision of the constitution as it came from the hands of the committee on law was continued. Section one, relating to name, jurisdiction and membership, was passed without action Section two, treating of meetings of the general assembly and representation was amended so as to change the basis of representation from one delegate for each 1,000 members to one for every 3,000, and to make an allowance for mileage payable by the general assembly It was then adopted Section three, treating of the general assembly, was adopted after two clauses had been amended so as to read, "Any general officer, whether representative or not, is eligible to re-election, and any representative or past representative to this general assembly or past general officer, is eligible to any office in the general assembly except that of general master workman In a clause of section 4 relating to duties of officers an amendment was made by which in case of death, resignation or removal of the master workman the general worthy foreman shall succeed to and perform all the duties and become general master workman until the next session of the general assembly, when there shall be an election to fill the position Section 9, relating to state assemblies Amendments were adopted by which the formation of a state assembly is made optional instead of compulsory Further [illegible] adopted by which [illegible] of existing district assemblies remain unchanged unless they themselves consent to change The general assembly also resolved not to interfere with national districts, and an amendment in sections relating to them was adopted providing that no local assembly shall be compelled to join a district assembly thus permitting trade local assemblies to retain their independence Another amendment which was adopted provides for an interchange of working cards with trade unions agreeing to reciprocate by receiving Knights of Labor cards The general assembly adjourned until Monday, when such portions of revision of the constitution as it is determined to act upon at the present session will be disposed of Business was transacted with such dispatch in the afternoon that the delegates entertain hopes of an adjournment Monday evening. A number of delegates left for their homes to day, but the majority will carry out their determination to remain until the work of the convention is concluded

The Chicago Strike

CHICAGO, October 16 The usual crowds of idle men remained in the vicinity of packing houses to day and besought all men who could be reached not to go to work Many applicants for work, however, went out on regular special passenger trains and were landed at the doors of the packing houses, which were guarded by armed patrols Strikers stopped wagons containing clothing and bedding for the Pinkerton men just outside the city limits to day and handled the driver roughly, throwing the clothing in the street. A wagon loaded with bread for the Pinkerton guards was stopped outside the city limits, and when the police arrived the wagon had disappeared

Republican Ratification

PHILADELPHIA, October 16 Immense mass meetings were held by republicans at the Academy of Music and Horticultural hall to night in ratification of the republican state ticket. Hon James G Blaine was the principal speaker at both halls, which were packed to their utmost capacity hours before the speakers arrived The crowd grew larger and larger as the evening advanced and by 8 o'clock streets within three blocks of the two buildings, which adjoin each other, were almost impassable. The speaker was escorted from and to his hotel by republican clubs and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed along the line of procession. In addition to two speeches in the halls Mr. Blaine addressed an immense throng from the balcony of the Union League building

The last was the mile running dash Won by Easter, Our Friend 2d, Actor 3d, Unique 4th, time, 1 46¾.

Robbing on the Railway

ST. LOUIS, October 16 For some time past freight cars on the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railways have been systematically robbed. The thefts in every instance have been so completely covered up that detection for a long time seemed impossible. The matter was placed in the hands of detectives and nineteen brakemen were arrested at Fort Smith charged with being implicated in the robberies. The thieving has been done so dexterously that detectives were a long time in discovering by whom it was done, and the goods were sent properly packed and the thieves opened the boxes, took out what they wanted and then nailed up the boxes so nicely that the merchant to whom they were consigned receipted for them "In good order," and only found after they had done so that they did not receive a proper amount of goods Hundreds of dollars worth of merchandise have in this way been stolen

To Prevent Fraud

WASHINGTON, October 16 The following order has been issued to commandants of all navy yards

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, October 14, 1886

DEAR SIR—The custom has grown up in navy yards of having a list of employes "suspended" There is no authority of law for this, and you will see that it is discontinued and all such lists erased.

[Signed] W. C. WHITNEY,
Secretary of the Navy

The law provides that no new men shall be employed at navy yards during the sixty days preceding an election, but this does not apply to men already employed and carried along upon the "suspended" roll The above order is understood to be intended to prevent an invasion of the law, which is now possible by hiring new men three or four months before an election and carrying them without pay until election time.

The Result of a Quarrel

LONDON, October 16 Mrs Leader, wife of a butcher doing business in Camberwell, a suburb of London, after quarreling with her husband left her home, taking her five little children with her. She went to the Thames river at Fulham and threw herself and five children into the water. All were drowned but one of the children

A Socialist Released

LONDON, October 16 Williams, the socialist leader, who in August last elected to serve a two months term of imprisonment rather than pay a fine "for obstructing the streets" last July by preaching socialism, was to day released, having passed sixty days in jail He was met on his exit by a crowd of friends who gave him an ovation

Killing the Cows

CHICAGO October 16—On Monday the work of slaughtering distillery cattle will begin The edict of the health commissioner prohibiting the [illegible] of distillery milk has discouraged distillery milkmen, and they will dispose of their cows to the best possible advantage. There are nearly 1,000 such cows in the city and many of them have been fattened for slaughter houses.

Blaine is having a veritable boom in Pennsylvania. He will soon be a candidate whether he wishes or not

First Assistant Postmaster General Stevenson reports fair progress in the work of turning the rascals out of the postoffice department. Up to June 30 nearly twenty three thousand appointments had been made, over 9,500 of which were to fill places made vacant by removals and suspensions

In another column will be found official notice of the election to be held on November 2d next. Besides an enumeration of the officers to be elected are the proposed amendments to the constitution of the state, to be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection These relate to the courts of the state and matters connected therewith

The death of Meyer Karl Rothschild at Frankfort yesterday is an event of considerable importance in the financial world He was a grandson of the founder of the great banking institutions of Europe and head of the Frankfort branch, which controlled the money markets of Germany and exercised an immense influence on the finances of Europe.

President Cleveland is not so slow as he looks The newspapers have been publishing an item to the effect that his wife's cousin, Ben Folsom, he of the diamond pin, would make Washington his headquarters this winter, but Grover now steps in and retires Cousin Ben by appointing him consul at Sheffield, Eng, where he will be kept busy wiping the coal dust off the big diamond

Hewitt has formally accepted the Tammany nomination for mayor of New York, Whether he is elected or not, congress will be the loser by his absence His varied information and scholarly habits made him invaluable in committee work, and to the tariff reformers he supplied the weapons of offense and defense. He announced several months ago that he would not again be a candidate, but he would undoubtedly have reconsidered that determination under the pressure that was brought to bear on him

Nothing shows the increasing prosperity of the country and the revival of its business interests better than the figures relating to the foreign trade. The report of the bureau of statistics for the foreign trade of August shows that our exports in that month were seven millions heavier than those of August, 1885 But as usual in this country when trade is good the people begin to indulge in luxuries, and the other side of the balance sheet is against us The imports for August increased about sixty two millions Part of this great buying abroad was made necessary from the great strikes of the spring which demoralized so many industries

The Mining Review considers the silver question the leading issue of the presidential campaign, and advises its readers to prepare for the coming struggle in the following. "It is the duty of the west and south to see that no man is elected president of the United States in 1888 who is opposed to bi metallism The civilized world has discovered this to be the only remedy for its disordered commerce, and as this country is expected to take the chief part in the restoration of silver to free coinage, we should not obstruct the movement by placing another monometallic administration at the head of affairs This question must be met and settled in the next four years, and it can be settled in no better way than by heeding the will of the majority, which is indisputably in favor of placing silver on a par with gold

A great many English statesmen seem to think that the greatest danger to the empire in the future is the enormous growth of London, and the centralization of power Cromwell saw and [illegible] it [illegible] his days in denouncing the [illegible]" In a speech Lord Rosebery recently forecast the danger in the following 'Gentlemen, depend upon it, you may make light of this danger now, but the danger of centralization is one of the greatest dangers we have to fear in this country We have to remember that we have in London a nation larger than the whole population of the ancient kingdom of Scotland at this moment, that it is growing vastly year by year, and that when this enormous mass of people become totally and wholly unmanageable you will then find out that it is too late to deal with this problem "

The holiday number of the Illustrated Graphic News promises to be one especially creditable to American art [illegible] have [illegible] pages of original sketches and reproductions and several double supplements printed in colors Mr de Thulstrup's picture, 'In the Trenches,' will be printed in eight colors

General Wallace says that his forthcoming book is a romance of Turkish life founded upon his observations in the east He declares that when traveling he writes anywhere and at any time, as the opportunity comes 'I carry a scratch book and write on the [illegible] If I have no one to talk to Composition [illegible] very difficult for me The faculty will desert me and for a day at a time I cannot write a paragraph to please me On such days I force myself to keep at work rewriting my matter time after time, and suddenly the [illegible] gives way and it is all easy again

The first number of The Quarterly Journal of Economics the publication of which is provided for by the gift of Mr. John E Thayer of Harvard, will be brought out this week Professor Dunbar announces that the Journal will not represent any special school or body of economic doctrine, but is to be devoted chiefly to the production of scientific investigation and discussion It will contain [illegible] articles from writers within and without the university, shorter papers and [illegible] topics of [illegible] correspondence showing the movement of economic thought in this [illegible] countries abroad, a [illegible] graphy [illegible] tions in political economy [illegible] these papers [illegible] Leonomy, by Charles [illegible] Private Monopolies and Public Rights, by Arthur T Hadley, 'Silver Before Congress in 18[illegible]' by [illegible] Horton and 'A Historical Study of Law's System Part I by A [illegible] Davis

General Lew Wallace in talking of 'Ben Hur' to a writer for the Detroit Journal the other day, said concerning its history You remember, perhaps, that 'Ben Hur' is divided into books The [illegible] book carrying the story up to the Birth of Christ, was written with no distinct motive I regarded it as complete and intended some day to send it to a magazine as a serial At that time I did not trouble myself to inquire as to religious matters, and if I went to church it was to hear a [illegible] for the sake of his eloquence. One day I met Colonel Ingersoll and he began to talk to me in his wonderful way—for he is very wonderful, in brain and eloquence After that talk I determined that cost what it might, I would investigate and decide for myself as to the divinity of Christ It seemed to me that to continue Ben Hur would give me a pretext and a system of work, and for five long years I studied the life of Christ and the history, customs and traditions of his people and country This I did by the aid of maps and books of travel, until I had accumulated what I believe to be the largest collection of maps of the east owned by any individual in America and had a knowledge of my subject which I may say without egotism, was superior to that of many who had travelled in the Holy Land I came to the conclusion that Christ was divine and entitled to respect and that all He claimed for him if He should receive. I am not a church member When I arrive at a strange hotel on Sunday I ask the way to the nearest church It is always good enough for me When Ben Hur was completed I went to the Holy Land and spent months in visiting every place referred to in order to verify my work Not one word required to be changed

The Ways of Chief Justice Marshall

Youth's Companion

Marshall was once at market and heard a well dressed stranger complaining that he could get no one to carry home a turkey for him Marshall offered to carry it, and did so, accompanying him to his house when the stranger proposed to pay him, but he declined and walked on Something about him seemed to excite suspicion of the stranger, and he said to a person passing

'Who is that old fellow who brought home my turkey?' The reply was

He is the chief justice of the United States and he brought home your turkey to teach you to attend to your own business."

My friend Dr Hay related to me another amusing anecdote of Marshall's simplicity The doctor's father when a boy was employed as a copyist in the clerk's office, and was sent one morning with a bundle of papers to Marshall's residence Having reached the square old mansion which is still standing not far from the capitol he knocked at the door, and the great judge opened it, walking in his stocking feet, in order not to disturb his invalid wife The youth was very much abashed at being thus suddenly confronted by the famous chief justice, who gravely invited him to come into his study and wait while he examined the papers

The boy followed in fear and trembling and the judge looked over the papers Then he carefully folded them up turned round to the [illegible]

"Your name is Jimmy Hay, is it not

"Yes, sir,' faltered the boy

'Well Jimmy," continued Marshall, rising slowly, with a friendly smile, 'let us go into the backyard and have a game of marbles "

I have no doubt he enjoyed the game of marbles as much as the boy Let his favorite pastime was to play quoits at [illegible] spring in the western suburbs of Richmond The place was a sort of pleasure ground used for picnics and club meetings especially of the Quoit club of which Marshall was [illegible] member

A Flirt's Narrow Escape

Indianapolis Journal

A few days ago a young woman was leisurely stepping across the railroad tracks on Virginia avenue, when raising her eyes she saw a good looking brakeman on top of a slowly receding freight train waving his hand at her The young woman, who seemed to be of a flirtatious disposition, smiled sweetly and waved her hand at the handsome brakeman who rose from his seat on the brake and again waved his hand, this time with much greater energy than before The young woman, evidently flattered acted as if under a charm, while the brakeman continued waving his arms as if possessed She stopped and fumbled in her pocket for a handkerchief the man on the car in the meantime appearing to be almost frantic. At that moment the flagman rushed out and pulled the flirtatious female person aside barely in time to save her from being run over by a backing train

KELLAR

A Creditable Performance at the Opera House Last Evening.

Never has there been such a well pleased and satisfied audience as that which left the opera house after last evening's performance. From the time the curtain went up to the close of the evening's entertainment the attention of the audience was riveted and fixed upon Kellar and his contemporaries. As to the merits of the entertainment which Kellar and D'Alvini afforded, we can only say that it deserves to rank among the best which have ever been presented upon the stage of our opera house. Kellar is certainly a wonder. Had he the self assurance to claim himself a spiritual medium, we firmly believe that the tests which he performs would do much to establish the [illegible] of spiritualism in the minds of those who now dislike and disbelieve them. But Kellar claims no supernatural power and his tricks, manifestations and delusions are accomplished only and entirely by natural agencies. The movement of the queen's [illegible] was one of the [illegible] exhibitions of rapid mental calculation which has ever been witnessed on this or any other stage. The changing of the dresses filled with bran, into paper, and [illegible] paper, to sugar, milk and [illegible] respectively was mystifying to a great degree. Indeed this may be said of all of Kellar's tricks, and any attempt at their explanation would be simply preposterous.

The honors of the evening were almost evenly divided between Kellar and D'Alvini, though the work of each was entirely different. As an equilibrist and juggler he could hardly be equaled and exclamations of astonishment and surprise greeted each and every one of his efforts. D'Alvini is an Englishman though his clever makeup would tend to [illegible] his nationality.

Little Kitchi, the little boy who waited upon D'Alvini, on account of an accident received at Leadville, was unable to exhibit his ability as a contortionist. Considerable disappointment was expressed at Kellar's failure to perform his celebrated flower trick which, perhaps, has given him more notoriety than all his other tricks combined. We will state that the failure to produce the trick was on account of the scarcity of roses in this market. Efforts were made to get them here, but without avail, and as the trick can only be given with roses, Kellar, much to his own as well as his audience's disappointment, was unable to perform his celebrated trick. We hope Messrs. Kellar and D'Alvini will again visit Colorado Springs, where they will always receive a cordial and hearty welcome.

Glenwood Springs

Many of our citizens are interested in property in this growing town, and many more have contemplated investing there, but have been deterred from doing so by rumors (probably started by parties who wished to depreciate values there for the purpose of acquiring lots at low figures) of defects in titles of some indefinite nature. For these reasons, and because Colorado Springs will soon be connected with Glenwood by a railroad inaugurated and controlled by our own citizens, the following article, clipped from "The Glenwood Echo," of the [illegible] inst., will be of interest to our readers, and will satisfactorily settle the vexed question of titles above referred to, viz:

"After a long and tedious investigation the proprietors of Glenwood Springs have accepted the plat of the townsite presented by the Town company. The city council in accepting this plat thereby acknowledges the title of the Town company to be valid. The question has been thoroughly sifted from top to bottom and nothing against the title has been unearthed. Property holders in Glenwood Springs are indeed to be congratulated that this investigation has resulted in their favor. Men with families who have invested their all in a little home in this great sanitarium can now rest assured that their little property has a valid title. This means more than the average man can see for the prosperity of the Saratoga of the Rockies." Transfers of real estate will shortly be as numerous as in the early part of last spring. This will put money in circulation, which means a consequent increase in business.

Capital, which has for some time been watching the outcome of this question, will now loosen their purse strings and invest in Glenwood Springs and vicinity.

It is well worthy of mention right here that there are thirteen townsites in Colorado, one of which is Denver, whose entries were identical with that of Glenwood Springs. All of them have gone through the same long and tedious investigation, with very [illegible] same result. It is the opinion of a great many that the well known value of real estate of Glenwood has been the incentive for mercenary persons to attack the title thereof in order to depreciate values, thereby giving them a chance to speculate.

The council in accepting the plat reserved their decision on blocks [illegible] and 47, for the reason that a proposed street is to be extended through them, and they wish to get the consent of the property holders thereon before settling the matter.

The Wool Market.

Sherman Hall & Co., of Chicago, in their circular of October 12, 1886, state the receipts of wool for the week ending October 9, were [illegible] pounds against [illegible] pounds for the previous week, and 1,011,702 pounds for the corresponding week of last year. The shipments for the week were 5[illegible] pounds against 855,[illegible] pounds for the previous week, and 1,105,987 pounds for corresponding week last year. Receipts since January 1, 1886, have been 31,795,556 pounds against [illegible] pounds for 1885. The shipments for corresponding periods to date have been [illegible] pounds, 1885 41,572,074 pounds.

Sales for the past week have been upwards of [illegible] pounds, running largely to western wools, as the supply of bright unwashed wools is now reduced below the current demand. [illegible] of the sales than usual has gone direct to manufacturers. Eastern dealers complain that prices here are too high to show any margin of profit and consequently buy sparingly. This fact shows the relative merits of Chicago and eastern points to western consignors.

The early closing of the lake navigation is likely to increase lake freights, making it very probable that later shipments will be at higher rates. Wool growers would do well to ship to this market and thereby avail themselves of the chances for a prompt and profitable sale.

There is a brisk demand from shippers for full wooled pelts which are higher. Shearlings are [illegible] and [illegible] in sympathy with the advancing tendency.

The following quotations are given for Colorado and Arizona wool:

[illegible]

Base Ball

The game of base ball yesterday afternoon between the College Boys and the Reds, though very exciting, was a miserable exhibition of ball playing, the only redeeming feature being Charlie Barns' catching for the Reds, and Wiley's pitching for the College Boys. The game was characterized by unseemly and disgraceful wrangling over the umpire's decisions, which disgusted the large number of spectators present. The first two innings virtually decided the game in favor of the College Boys, as one of the opponents were never able to overcome. Had the Reds played in the first two innings with the vim and care which characterized their playing in the last half of the game the result might have been different. The looseness of their play in the first two innings was due in a great measure to the absence of their regular catcher, Charlie Barns. His arrival in the third inning had a marked effect upon the Reds, who exhibited a great improvement in their play from that of the first and second innings. The college boys played a fair good game in the field, but were lamentably weak in the box, Finlay giving ten men their bases on balls and Wiley six. Goddard, of the Reds, did not pitch up to his usual standard, but he only sent two men to their bases on balls. The following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
College Boys	9	5	4	0	0	1	1	4	6	11
Reds	1	1	1	1	8	3		1	3	2

The Eastport Fire

[illegible] Loss by the fire is now estimated at $500 000. There are no means as yet of estimating the insurance. Several safes were opened to-day with better hopes than was expected. The report that the insurance books and reports were destroyed was a mistake. All the savings of the Frontier [illegible] were found safe, [illegible] of the property [illegible] part of the [illegible] families are still [illegible]. [illegible] families who will at home many of whom were quite comfortable. [illegible] are now living with friends. Suffering will increase as the weather gets colder. A relief committee has been organized and [illegible] received [illegible] sufficient for all [illegible] temporary distress.

The Markets

NEW YORK, October 16.—Governments dull. [illegible] exhibited the same general [illegible] yesterday, the principal activity being confined to a few specialties, while the general market was comparatively dull and its fluctuations slight. The market was active throughout the day and was subject to frequent fluctuations which in a great measure neutralized each other. The opening was generally about [illegible] from ¼ to ½ above closing figures of last evening.

In the mining market Little Pittsburg rose 5 cents and Leadville advanced 2 to [illegible]. Sales—Mono, $2 75, California and Virginia, $2 90.

Presidential Appointments

WASHINGTON, October 16. The president to-day made the following appointments: Benjamin Folsom, of New York, to be consul of the United States at Sheffield, England. Folsom is a cousin of Mrs Cleveland. Charles H Grover of Leavenworth, Kansas, to be agent for Indians of the Pottawatomie and Great Nemaha agency in Kansas. Frank H. Goodyear, of Buffalo, to be commissioner to examine and report upon the section of railroads constructed by the Northern Pacific Railroad company in Washington territory.

The presidential hunting and fishing party returned to Washington from Romney, W. V., at an early hour this morning. They had an enjoyable trip.

Mexican Kindness

EL PASO, October 16. The new minister to Mexico, Judge Manning, of Louisiana, passed through El Paso to-day on his way to the City of Mexico. He found here awaiting him a special car, sent on from the City of Mexico for his especial accommodation. There seems to be a universal desire in Mexico to be as friendly and kind towards the new minister as possible.

Quebec Elections

MONTREAL, October 15. It is now conceded that Quebec elections have resulted in the defeat of the government. At present the number of members elected are claimed by both parties. Conservatives maintain that the vote is a tie, while liberals claim they have a working majority. It is predicted by some that coalition will be necessary in order to carry on the government.

Gonzales Well.

WASHINGTON, October 16. Senor Romero, Mexican minister, telegraphed to President Diaz yesterday an inquiry as to the truth of the rumored assassination of ex-President Gonzales and has received a reply that the rumor is untrue and that Gonzales is well.

Accepting the Nominations

NEW YORK, October 15.—Messrs. Hewitt and Roosevelt have written formal letters accepting respectively the democratic and republican nominations for mayor of New York.

Earthquake Shocks

CHARLESTON, October 16. There was a severe earthquake shock at Summerville at 8 o'clock last night. No damage was done.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

Joseph Chamberlain and Jesse Collings have arrived at Constantinople.

Meyer Karl Rothschild, head of the great banking firm, died suddenly yesterday from heart disease at Frankfort.

Indications for Colorado—Local rains, variable winds, cooler in the western portion, slight changes in temperature in the eastern portion.

The weekly bank statement at New York shows a reserve decrease of $440 000. The banks now hold $4,620 000 in excess of the legal rule.

Accounting for the Earthquake

It is a curious fact that, some days before the earthquake occurred, Prof Dawson, addressing the British association for the advancement of science, said that "it was possible that there soon would be, or might even now be in progress, a new settlement of the bed of the Atlantic ocean, especially on its western side, and that there would possibly be at the same time renewed volcanic activity on the eastern margin of the ocean." This statement of possibilities reads almost like prophecy, in view of what has since occurred and it is in marked accord with the theory advanced by Prof McGee, of the Geological survey, that what has taken place is what he describes as "seaward slip." What he means by this expression is thus indicated:

"[illegible] the movement of the coastal plain toward the sea. Let me say in round terms that we divide the region this side of the Appalachian range into two portions. The granite or gneiss formation is called the Piedmont escarpment. It extends from mountain ranges to about where Columbia is. The region this side of that is made up of what we call fragmental rock and is called the coastal plain. The theory is that this coal plain has simply slipped seaward a bit and that the displacement produced the shock or tremor."

As to the cause of this "slip," Prof McGee says there is a tendency in that direction. Imagine a surface slightly inclined, with the coastal plain overlying it, and a sharp depression existing somewhere a hundred miles or so out at sea, and the tendency of the plain toward that depression is checked only by the resistance of friction. A point is reached, however, perhaps, by reason of the readjustment of the earth's surface constantly going on, or by the deposits brought by the great rivers, where the pressure overcomes the resistance, and then a slip occurs.

Cadets' Waists

"You ought to make a study of the cadets' waists if you ever come up here," writes "Maud" from West Point. "One strapping fellow, nearly six feet high and broad in proportion, boasted to me that he was only twenty four inches in the waist, and hoped to be only twenty three by the time he was graduated. It seems to me this way. For the four years they are here, while their incessant drilling, fencing and dancing develops and straightens the figure amazingly, they pinch their waists in so that when they are graduated they could almost wear Ilione's belt. I don't know whether it's healthful or not—although they are the finest physical specimens I ever saw in my life—but it certainly improves their figure and gives young officers that peculiar grace and elegance which, we must acknowledge, distinguish them."

Tom Daly and the Dud

Apropos of the visit of the Dalys and their clever "Vacation" company to Colorado Springs this week the following little sketch is worth printing and will be appreciated by all those fortunate enough to claim an acquaintance with the genial Tommy, and his very pretty and talented little wife.

Mrs. Lizzie Derious, wife of Thomas A. Daly, of the famous Daly Brothers resides in Cleveland and having a natural desire to visit her mother and other friends left Frisco on the 10 25 train, with the understanding that she would stop off at Cleveland, make a hurried visit, and rejoin her husband and the company upon the arrival of the 9 30 train for Chicago.

The company left [illegible] in the morning on the limited, and a fresh young dude, hailing from New York, thoroughly disgusted the occupants of the Pullman car by his fairy tale. He persisted in regaling his fellow travelers with relations of famous conquests he had made with susceptible females.

According to his statement he had never met a lady who was proof against his fascinations. After he had gone on in this strain for some time, and the train was rapidly approaching Cleveland, Tom Daly, who had thus far been a silent but disgusted listener to the conversation, broke in with:

"Say, stranger, I'm not much of a masher, but I'll bet you an even $50, and put it up in the hands of the conductor, that at the next station you may choose the finest lady who boards the train, point her out to me, and if within five minutes I do not kiss the lady in the presence of all the passengers and have a seat by her side as far as she goes, I forfeit the money."

This was considered a very "soft thing" by the mashing dude. The $50 was left in the hands of the popular conductor, Hank Clark, and when Cleveland, the first stopping place, was reached, every occupant of the car was eager to see the result of the novel wager.

Among those entering were several ladies, and our lady killer, who was anxiously scanning the faces of each, quietly pointed to one who appeared to take his fancy, with the remark "Inside that little beauty with the sealskin sacque and the diamonds, and if you 'catch on' the money is yours."

No quicker said than done. Tom Daly "tackled" the beauty, and with a resounding smack, imprinted on her pouting lips, he led her to a seat, and was soon engaged in animated conversation.

Mr. Dude was thunderstruck, but a flood of light illuminated his brazen face when Bob Daly remarked, "Well, hasn't a man got a right to kiss his own wife?"

Tommy had shrewdly counted upon the dude's good taste in selecting the "prettiest woman," who could be no other than Lizzie Derious.

Trustee's Sale

Whereas, Thomas Stark and E. B. Stark did, on the fifteenth day of January, A. D., 1886, execute to the undersigned, O. L. Godfrey, of the county of El Paso and state of Colorado as trustee, their two certain deeds of trust of that date, on the property hereinafter described, to secure to Wm S. Jackson the payment of their certain promissory notes of said date, for the aggregate sum of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), payable to the said Jackson, or order. One of said deeds of trust being recorded in the office of the county clerk and recorder of Elbert county, Colorado, in book 4, at page 6[illegible] thereof, and conveying the following lands, viz: The west one half of the northwest quarter, the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section twenty four in township ten south of range sixty-one west, in Elbert county, Colorado, and containing 160 acres. The other deed of trust being recorded in the office of the county clerk and recorder of El Paso county, in book 63 at page 4[illegible] thereof, and conveying the following lands, viz: The equal undivided one-half interest in and to the east one-half of the southwest quarter and west half of the southeast quarter of section seventeen in township eleven south of range sixty-one west, in El Paso county, Colorado, and, whereas, default has been made in the payment of all of said notes and the interest thereon, and all of said notes have become due and payable by the expiration of the time for their maturity, as expressed by said notes, and by said deeds of trust. Now, therefore, by the power and authority in me vested, in and by the terms of said deeds of trust, and upon the application of the owner and holder of said notes, I shall at the hour of ten o'clock a. m., on Saturday, the sixth day of November, A. D., 1886, at the front door of the court house in the city of Colorado Springs in the county of El Paso in the state of Colorado, sell to the highest and best bidder for cash all of the above described lands and the improvements thereon [illegible], for the purpose of paying said promissory notes and the interest thereon, together with the costs and expenses of executing this trust.

Dated October 6th, 1886.

Several people were so mystified by Kellar and D'Alvini at the opera house last evening that they left their umbrellas, overcoats, wraps, etc., behind them. If these people discover their loss they can secure their articles of Mr. Nye at Bell's drug store.

At a meeting of the El Paso County Hunt held yesterday afternoon it was decided to call a meeting for Tuesday, the 19th, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the office of Frank T. Lent, 105 Pike's Peak avenue. As the very important business of adopting the constitution and by-laws will be brought up, it is desired to have a full attendance.

Dr. Edwin W. Fowler, secretary to Hubert Howe Bancroft, is still at The Antlers, and will remain in the city about another month. He is collecting data for Mr. Bancroft's history of Colorado, and we hope that our citizens will do all in their power to assist him in this laudable undertaking.

The mission band of the Baptist church will give a concert this evening at the church. Following is the programme:

1. Singing......"Joy to the World"
2. Reading of the Scriptures and Prayer......
3. Singing......"Tell me the Old, Old Story"
4. Recitation......"The Child's Prayer" Elinor Merrill.
5. Address......Rev. Taggart
6. Solo......
7. Recitation......"Home spun and Broidery" Pearl Cooper.
8. Class Recitation......"The Master is Calling"
9. Singing..."Hark the Voice of Jesus Crying"
10. Recitation......"Patchwork"
11. Address......Pastor
12. Recitation......"Missionary Pennies" Ethel Corum.
13. Collection......
14. Singing......"Coronation"

The Antlers Arrivals: G. A. Tyler, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Strachan, England; Geo. Lark, Miss Garner, Philadelphia; Fred Hedson, Harry Kellar, G. W. Total	152,602	141,365	5,010,698	4,598,9[illegible]

Increase for week, $11,237 or 7.95-100 per cent. Increase for the year, $312,406, or 6.65-100 per cent.

Length of line 1317 miles.

That Colorado Springs will ever have the misfortune to experience another coal famine is not probable. No matter how much the demand for the Cañon City, Cameron and the anthracite coals may exceed the supply, yet this city has within easy access an almost inexhaustible supply of coal the quality of which has been highly recommended by those competent and sufficient to judge. Judge McFerran is vigorously pushing the work on his property, and as depth is gained the quality and quantity of the coal deposit improves and increases.

Pike's Peak lodge, No. 38, I. O. O. F., will run an excursion to Denver on Tuesday of this week. Fare for the round trip $3.25, including admission to the panorama battle of Gettysburg. A special train for the accommodation of the excursionists will leave the D. & R. G. depot at 8 a. m., and as the tickets are good for four days to return by any regular train, it is hoped that many will avail themselves of this favorable opportunity to visit Denver. The great painting of the battle of Gettysburg is fifty feet high and four hundred feet long. It covers the inside of an immense brick building on Champa street near Seventeenth. The entire cost of buildings, painting and mounting is $150,000.

BUSINESS LOCALS.

Ten cents per line for first insertion; five cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Advertisements to go in every other day, or on certain days of the week ten cents per line for each insertion.

$20 buys a Chamber Suite at Fairley Bros.', such as they advertise in Denver at $25.

$25 and $30 buys an all plush Parlor Suite at Fairley Bros.', which is lower than they want in Denver for a Ramie (cheap cotton) Suite.

You should now be thoroughly convinced that Fairley Bros. is the cheapest place in Colorado to buy furniture, the above prices being no specialty with us the same having been steadily maintained throughout the season, and not a reduction of from 25 to 50 per cent.

Three car loads more furniture just received at Fairley Bros.'—making our stock for the fall trade very complete. Some of the latest styles in Parlor Suites and finer than ever before seen in this city, on all of which we guarantee the lowest prices.

Go to Fairley Bros.' for blankets, comforters, pillows, etc.

Take your upholstery work to Fairley Bros. They have the best upholsterer in the city. b 23 tf

We have opened the finest stock of Men's, Boys' and youth's clothing in the city, and invite you to call and examine same. They will be sold very low for cash. W. W. WISHON. k 11 tf

Those who are in need of ledgers, journals, cash or other blank books need not send out of town for them as the Gazette will guarantee to turn out as good work as any other office in the country. If you have any magazines, papers or periodicals to bind bring them to this office and we will turn out satisfactory work at moderate prices.

We will offer our entire stock of neckwear at one half price until October 24th. These goods are made by the best manufacturers in the United States, and the greater portion by Wilson Bros., whose goods everyone are acquainted with. This is the greatest bargain sale ever offered to the citizens of Colorado Springs and vicinity. Call early at W. W. WISHON'S. k 13 10 101 Pike's Peak ave.

Go to Ashby's for watches and fine watchwork. A good assortment of native jewelry. Field glasses for rent. Headquarters for solid and silver plated ware. Native stones mounted to order. All kinds of repairing promptly done by an expert workman. f 16 tf

BEST ROUTE EAST—THROUGH TRAINS.

Passengers for Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and all eastern points can save from four to six hours by taking what is known as Salt Lake train on D. & R. G. at 6 p. m., arriving in Denver in ample time to connect with through train on Burlington road. No change of cars from Denver to Chicago. Only line running through baggage cars; this is a decided advantage over any train leaving this city for the east in time and comfort. Sleeper accommodations reserved and tickets sold by J. M. Ellison, agent D. & R. G. R'y., Colorado Springs. George H. Crosby, general agent, F. B. Semple, travelling agent, Denver.

Mr. A. H. Nicholson of Denver is in town presenting the claims of the pianos and organs his firm handles at 403 Curtis street, Denver. Says that they have several good second hand instruments for sale, and we would advise anyone wishing to trade an old instrument or desiring a new one to address him care of box 1096, this city. This firm furnished the fine new upright piano now in the opera house, and among others a fine "Chickering" to Mr. Anthony Bott of Old Town. k 10 6

A CENTER CUT.

The Gazette has the best equipped job office in Colorado and never fails to turn out a job that will please you. Bring in your orders for cards, letter heads, note heads, envelopes, circulars, dodgers, etc., etc. Our stock is always complete and prices as low as can be obtained in Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha or Chicago.

I had given myself up as lost because of inherited scrofula. Tried everything for purifying the blood without benefit until I used Parker's Tonic, and can truthfully say that it has cured me. I still use for its splendid effect on my general health. H. K. Lynd, Chicago. dsatwl-19 ly
